

AHTO OJA

Renewable Energy Energy Saving and Audit Biomethane and Energy Cooperative expert

Ahto Oja is expert on sustainable development and human resource development, (e.g. capacity building, public participation, strategic environmental assessment, environmental impact assessment and strategic planning), general environmental protection, renewable energy and sustainable forestry.

He has experience in project management, inter-sectoral project co-ordination, fact-finding and problem analyses, identification of problems, development need assessment, preparing and implementing training courses, facilitating the workshops; policy analysis and advise, mainly in environmental sector; group work facilitation skills in well over 50 courses; analysing the implementation of sustainable development in Europe; international experience since 1988, participation in projects and presentations in workshops, seminars and conferences.

He has been involved in the Balkan, Baltic, CIS and Russian projects as well as in development programs implemented by World Bank, US AID, EU-PHARE, UNDP, UNEP, EEA, EU, CBC, REC, Helsinki University Knowledge Services Ltd. and Stockholm Environment Institute Tallinn Centre as expert, consultant, trainer, local co-ordinator, logistical support provider, translator, facilitator, project manager, program director and coordinator SEI cross centre program.

He has experience in environmental and sustainability assessment issues (EIA, SEA, indicators); promoting advisory service to improve public participation in environmental and local decision making process.