

JEAN-ARNOLD VINOIS

---

Energy Adviser, Jacques Delors Institute

Jean-Arnold VINOIS, Belgian, practiced as lawyer before joining the European Commission in 1987, where, during 15 years, he occupied several management posts in the field of transport and trans-European networks. From April 2006, he dealt with Energy as Head of the Unit responsible for Energy policy, security of supply and networks and since July 2011 he acted as Director of the internal electricity and gas markets within the Directorate General for Energy.

He retired on 1st of January 2013 and is now Honorary Director of the European Commission for which he still performs some missions, namely in Ukraine. Since 2014, he is Adviser on European Energy Policy to the Institut Jacques Delors Notre Europe.

He is co-author of the report published on 27th of January 2015 “From the European energy Community to the Energy Union: a policy proposal for the short and the long term”, prefaced by Jacques Delors.