

CHRISTOPHER HENDERSON

President Lumos Energy

Chris is Canada's pre-eminent Clean Energy Advisor to Aboriginal communities. He advises Chiefs and Councils, Tribal Groups and Aboriginal Economic Development Corporations on how to effectively secure and leverage partnership positions in clean energy projects across Canada. Chris also guides utilities, financial firms, corporations and governments on engaging and partnering with Aboriginal communities. Chris has catalyzed clean energy projects in every Canadian province and territory. His book, Aboriginal Power, was published in 2013.

Chris is also Program Designer and Lead Mentor of the Indigenous Clean Energy 20/20 Catalysts Program, and Chair of the GLOBE Series of Conferences and Exhibitions.

Chris and his partner Andrea have two amazing sons; Isaac and Noah. He is an honorary member of several Aboriginal communities. In Inuktitut he is called "Tall Chris", and has been given the names "Lightning" and "Point of the Spear" by Prairie Cree Nations. The most fitting of his Aboriginal names may be the one given to him by the Boreal Ojibwe which translates as "On Indian Time".
